

The North Carolina General Assembly Youth Art Exhibit is cosponsored by the North Carolina Art Education Association (NCAEA) and North Carolina General Assembly. The purpose of the exhibit is to share with our legislators and the public the exceptional creative ability of North Carolina's students.

Selected artworks from all over North Carolina are on display in the north lobby of the State Legislative Building in Raleigh, for a year-long exhibit. Students, parents, teachers, and principals will be invited to attend an opening reception with House Representatives at the Legislative Building in March to celebrate Youth Art Month.

Two pieces of student work from the Arts Education Programs of Pitt County Schools were selected for the 2012 Exhibit. Congratulations to all!

Wintergreen Primary second grade student Conner Mills' work "Grazing at Night" He is the Art student of Art Educator Aleigha Reott.

Wahl-Coates Elementary second grade student Madyson Dilday's work "Native American Portrait". She is the student of Art Educator Paul Phillips.
